

THE SINGAPORE STORY: CREATING RELEVANCE IN A CHALLENGING WORLD

Singapore

518 SQ KM

Singapore must make itself relevant so that other countries have an interest in our continued survival and prosperity as a sovereign and independent nation. Singapore cannot take its relevance for granted...Singapore has to continually reconstruct itself and keep its relevance to the world and to create political and economic space. This is the economic imperative for Singapore.

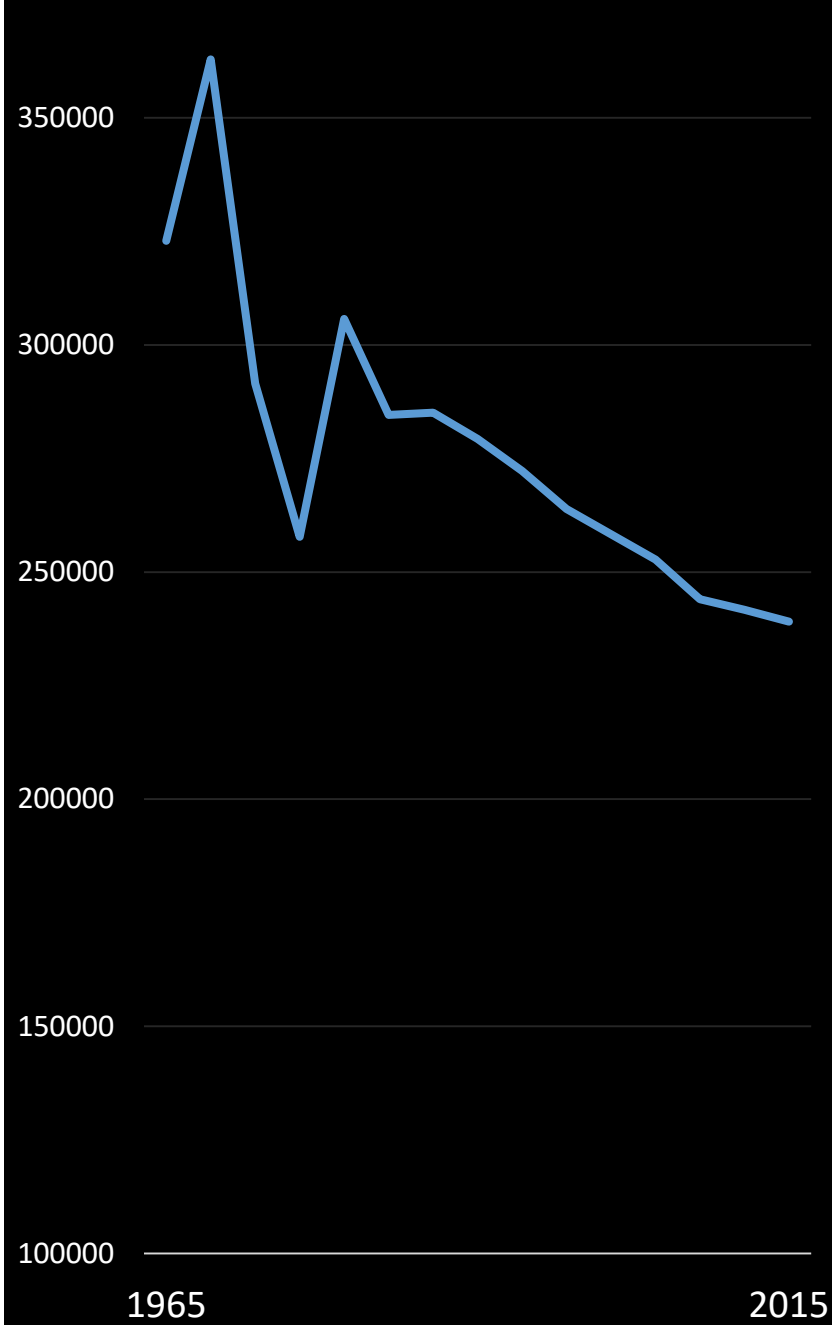

*- Lee Kuan Yew -
Founding Prime Minister of Singapore*

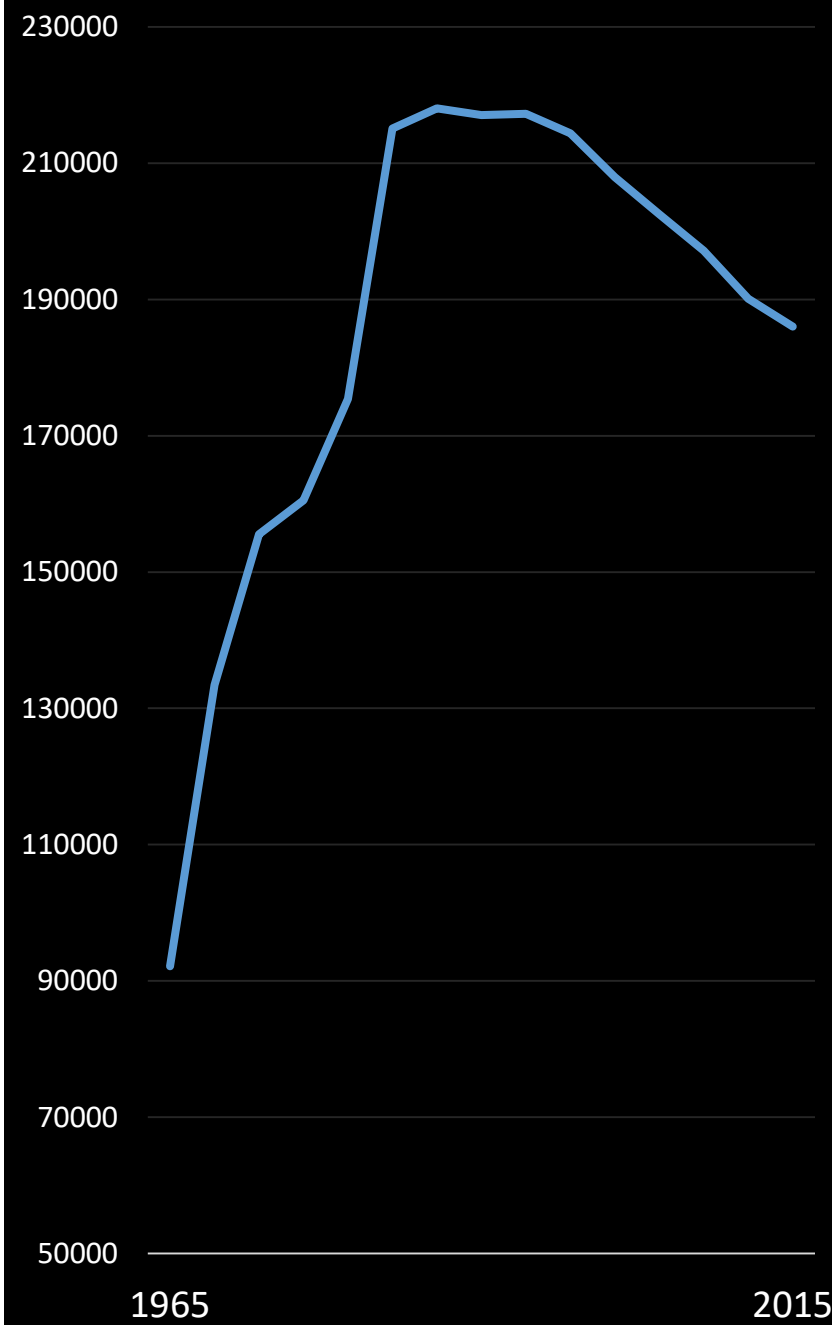

If we view Singapore's future not as a regional city but as a Global City, then the smallness of Singapore, the absence of a hinterland, or raw materials and a large domestic market are not fatal or insurmountable handicaps. It would explain why, since independence, we have been successful economically and, consequently, have ensured political and social stability.

- S Rajaratnam -
Singapore's First Foreign Minister

A small country must seek a maximum number of friends, while maintaining the freedom to be itself as a sovereign and independent nation. Both parts of the equation – a maximum number of friends and freedom to be ourselves – are equally important and inter-related.

A high-angle photograph of a large group of students in white uniforms standing in formation in front of a school building. The students are arranged in many rows, filling the courtyard. In the background, a building with a red and blue facade is visible, featuring a banner that reads "OUR VISION PASSIONATE LEARNERS GRACIOUS CITIZENS". To the right, a flagpole with the Singapore flag is visible. The text is overlaid on the image in a large, black, sans-serif font.

We, the citizens of Singapore
Pledge ourselves as one united people
Regardless of race, language or religion
To build a democratic society
Based on justice and equality
So as to achieve happiness
Prosperity and progress for our nation
